Well Revered: The current collection of jewels was inspired by the fall line of designer Samantha Pleet, as well as vampires, French revolutionaries and the French empire, witches and warlocks, nymphs, wizards, and many other magical beings.

Made from crystals, vintage war medallions, chains and charms, feathers, ribbons, and watch faces, these pieces are very versatile and useful protection throughout the darkest journeys and battles of the spirits.

Along with her cohorts at GhostownPress, Well Revered will be conjuring spirits through the ages. This side of the ocean, and through her future ventures in Denmark, she is welcoming new legionnaires of her dark army, as the battles continue. Sign up at wellrevered.com!
